Economics Experiment

Are you interested in participating in an economics experiment where you will have chance to win a new iPod Touch (with video, wireless internet and 16GB storage)? The experiment involves answering multiple-choice questions based on material in this course. The experiment will take place online.

If you are interested in participating, please go to the following web site for more information:

web.econ.ucsb.edu/study/signup